Loyola University Chicago Faculty Member Receives Fulbright Specialists Award

Dr. Timothy E. O'Brien, Professor and Graduate Program Director (Applied Statistics) at Loyola University Chicago, has been selected for a Fulbright Specialists project in Thailand at Chiang Mai University Faculty of Medicine during the six-week period 5/23/2010 – 7/3/2010, according to the United States Department of State and the J. William Fulbright Foreign Scholarship Board.

In addition to leading biostatistical research and consulting, Dr. O'Brien will facilitate a 4-week Research Methods workshop and training in Global and Public Health, specifically related to biostatistical techniques for influenza & SARS, tuberculosis, malaria, hepatitis, alcohol and drug recovery programs, bioinformatics, and other medical research.

Dr. O'Brien is one of over 400 U.S. faculty and professionals who will travel abroad this year through the Fulbright Specialists Program. The Fulbright Specialists Program, created in 2000 to complement the traditional Fulbright Scholar Program, provides short-term academic opportunities (two to six weeks) to prominent U.S. faculty and professionals to support curricular and faculty development and institutional planning at post secondary, academic institutions around the world.

The Fulbright Program, America's flagship international educational exchange activity, is sponsored by the U.S. Department of State, Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs. Over its 60 years of existence, thousands of U.S. faculty and professionals have taught, studied or conducted research abroad, and thousands of their counterparts from other countries have engaged in similar activities in the United States. Over 285,000 emerging leaders in their professional fields have received Fulbright awards, including individuals who later became heads of government, Nobel Prize winners, and leaders in education, business, journalism, the arts and other fields.

Recipients of Fulbright Scholar awards are selected on the basis of academic or professional achievement. Among thousands of prominent Fulbright Scholar alumni are Milton Friedman, Nobel Prize-winning economist; Alan Leshner, CEO of the American Association for the Advancement of Science (AAAS); Rita Dove, Pulitzer Prize-winning poet; and Craig Barrett, Chairman of the Board of Intel Corporation. Distinguished Fulbright Specialist participants include Mahmoud Ayoub, Professor of Religion at Temple University, Heidi Hartmann, President and CEO, Institute for Women's Policy Research, Percy R. Luney, Jr. Dean and Professor, College of Law, Florida A&M University and Emily Vargas-Barone, Founder and Executive Director of the RISE Institute.
